Veryan’s BioMimics 3D peripheral vascular stent received U.S. FDA approval on 4 October, 2018. Chas Taylor, CEO of Veryan, said: “We are delighted to become part of Otsuka Medical Devices. This will allow Veryan to build on the strong clinical data with the BioMimics stent and realise the potential to significantly advance the treatment of peripheral vascular disease.”

Noriko Tojo, CEO of Otsuka Medical Devices commented: “Veryan’s stent technology represents an excellent fit with our existing activities and has considerable future development potential.”

About Veryan Medical Ltd.

Veryan has developed the BioMimics 3D Vascular Stent System. The BioMimics 3D stent has a unique three-dimensional helical shape, designed to impart natural curvature to the diseased femoropopliteal artery, promoting swirling flow and elevating wall shear, which has a protective effect on the endothelium.^{1,2,3} The helical shape of the BioMimics 3D stent is also designed to facilitate shortening of the stented segment during knee flexion and mitigate the risk of stented segment compression causing localised strains that in a straight stent may lead to stent fracture and chronic vascular injury.^{4,5} Veryan’s Head Office is in Horsham, UK and its Research & Development facility is located in Galway, Ireland. BioMimics 3D and Swirling Flow are registered trademarks of Veryan Medical Ltd. The BioMimics 3D Vascular Stent System has FDA and CE Mark approval.
